How does Radar Healthcare help you?

Operationally

Radar Healthcare provides a standardised approach to quality and compliance. As well as providing access to all processes and procedures, itemised task lists ensure everyone understands what is required of them. Easy to follow process flows also make data management simple for your teams.

As a manager

Radar Healthcare helps you ensure your team are delivering the best possible care by instilling a culture of accountability and responsibility, meaning you have confidence that the right actions are completed at the right time. Real-time dashboards and reporting provide the performance and service data you need at a click of a button. Service management is simpler with smart KPIs driven by artificial intelligence. You can also easily collate Provider Information Requests (PIRs) for regulators on demand.

As a director

Completely scalable, Radar Healthcare provides real-time, corporate oversight of your performance, quality and compliance status across your care group. Intelligent analytics, reporting, and machine learning help you identify best practice and quickly act on areas of concern - supporting quality improvement and compliance at every level of the organisation.

"With the introduction of Radar Healthcare not only have we replaced three existing quality and assurance systems with one, we have also enhanced those business processes as well, enabling us to capture better quality data in a more efficient manner"

Craig Rainford, Operations Systems Manager, Four Seasons Health Care

- Improved CQC ratings
- Standardised best practice service delivery
- Real time visibility of performance
- Evidence of service excellence and continuous improvement
- Instill a culture of accountability and responsibility, ensuring that nothing is overlooked
- Manage risk controls such as ownership of risk, visibility, costs and more
- Digitisation of manual processes to deliver operational efficiencies
