SUPPORTING CARE GROUPS OF THE FUTURE

Digital technology has great potential to support and ease the pressures of the social care workforce and improve the quality-of-care provision.

As we continue to move into a more digital-demanding world, care teams need to seriously consider introducing technology into their organisations. The Department of Health and Social Care has set out some ambitious goals for the future of social care, and one of those goals is to have 80% of Care Quality Commission (CQC) registered providers using digital social care records by March 2024.

The sector's long-term sustainability is dependant on this transformation. With a solid digital transformation strategy in place, staff can spend less time on administrative tasks and more time providing personalised care.

User experience, partner engagement, and the commitment to delivering the best possible healthcare outcomes have been at Radar Healthcare since day one.

Implementing Radar Healthcare allows care providers to understand the bigger picture and gain insights to enhance learning. We help our partners to really measure their success and understand where they can make improvements via analytical dashboards which spot trends and themes the human eye cannot see.

With all our modules linking together for that oversight, from Audits, to Incident Management, Risk Management, and Workforce Compliance, everything is in one central system and works towards the same goal – to make a difference and drive positive outcomes for residents.

As an organisation, we see the great benefit of the new alerts and notifications linked to a specific question within the audits.”

MAKE THE DAY-TO-DAY RUNNING OF YOUR CARE HOME MORE EFFICIENT, WHILST DRIVING IMPROVEMENT

HOW RADAR HEALTHCARE CAN HELP YOU DIGITISE YOUR PROCESSES

Our intuitive software has been designed to simplify the complexity of quality, risk and compliance within your care home.

Our easy-to-use software provides you with one single system so you can evidence service excellence across your home to anyone, at anytime.

Manage audits to business compliance, use analytics and dashboards to create the exact data you need to see and use action plans for continuous improvement and organisational learning.

Moving from an 'Inadequate' to a 'Good' CQC rating in such a short period of time is a significant achievement and the implementation of Radar

Healthcare has been instrumental in this. We can see where things are going wrong but more importantly, we have access to data and information which helps us prevent things from going wrong in the first place. Audits prompt staff to be more inquisitive, making them feel part of the team and in turn, part of the decision-making process.

INTEGRATION WITH NOURISH CARE

By partnering with leading care management platform Nourish Care, care workers can report incidents to Radar Healthcare through the Nourish app.

This integration allows care organisations to record incidents, such as falls, in the Nourish app for that information to transfer to Radar Healthcare for analysis and reporting opportunities.

Radar Healthcare's specialised workflow engine will then ensure that processes and standard operating procedures are followed so nothing gets missed; creating standardised behaviours, and allowing users to create action plans to mitigate those incidents and drive further improvements.

For more information on our integration capabilities, get in touch with our expert team.

Radar Healthcare was the first electronic system we implemented and since then we've started doing more and more digitally.

Radar Healthcare's reporting allowed us to spot trends and make adjustments for these, the increased visibility across the organisation is amazing.
